

Squats: the power exercise for the entire body!

Written by
DATE_FORMAT_LC2 - Last Updated DATE_FORMAT_LC2

Squats are not only a simple exercise for the legs. They are the most important muscle and strength exercises. They also stimulate muscle growth in the entire body, not just the legs. This is because they stimulate the secretion of the Muscle Growth Hormone – making the squat the queen of all exercises.